These are troubled times and in my option this suite has been wrong headed from the start. We have choices, good ones and the prices are and have been coming down. That is not what happens when the big guy is crushing the little one. Stop wasting owe money (read tax) and draining Microsoft's. We knead innovative guys right now and you guys have a few more importuned things to be doing. Trust the people and the market, we will reward or punish with much more clarity and justice than Washington can or will.
